

Tools used:

Inkwell Stamps Millions and Squillions stamp

Tonic oval dies

Memory box heart border die

Materials used:

A4 pink card

Pink glitter card

Pink heart background paper

White card

Versamark embossing pad

Wow powders – superfine gold

Various glues

1. Cut a piece of pink card 22.0 x 15.0 cm wide and fold in half. Place the largest (14.0 cm) oval die so that it overhangs the folded edge, ensuring that the die is horizontal. This will create the top fold for the card. Cut out the card blank.

2. Cut out the remaining ovals as follows

Glitter card	1 oval 14.0 cm wide
	1 oval 10.5 cm wide
Background	1 oval 13.0 cm wide
White card	1 oval 9.5 cm wide

Then cut 2 lengths of the heart border

3. Using versamark, stamp the design onto the white oval, sprinkle with the gold embossing powder and heat emboss.

4. Matt and layer the ovals. If you have difficulty sticking paper/card to glitter card then try using silicone gel – it will take longer to dry but does seem to work.

5. Attach the layers to the base card ensuring that the fold is at the top and the scalloped edge is matched up. Note, the top section of the large glitter oval will overhang the fold of the base card.

6. You will need to trim the 2 pieces of heart border to fit the oval. Do this at the full heart sections as this will make the design easier to attach to the card.
Carefully ease the border into curves – one clockwise, one anticlockwise.

7. Start by attaching the top heart to the centre top of the stamped design and carefully work it around to the bottom middle. Repeat with the other piece in the opposite direction to complete the card.
